Mouraria is one of the most traditional neighborhoods in the city of Lisbon. The name Mouraria is due to the fact that D.Afonso Henriques, after the conquest of Lisbon, confined an area of the city for Muslims. It was in this neighborhood that the Moors remained after the Christian reconquest.

In this and the surrounding neighborhood, the first Portuguese Mudejar art productions originated which would give way to the emergence of the melancholy of its songs are at the origin of fado.
