About Lisbon:

Europe's forgotten "sleeping beauty" of the 20th century woke up after 1998's World Fair, and both local and foreigner residents are injecting doses of innovation and modernism despite all the economic hardships. As confirmed by The Financial Times, Lisbon is on its way to becoming one of the best places to live, to do business. And of course, to invest in Lisbon property.

Although prices are rising in the Portuguese capital, the properties across the city still have huge potential for capital gain and return of your investment.

Whether you want to be close to the attractions of Lisbon or find some peace and quiet in the rural areas of the city, there are plenty of places to consider when staying in Lisbon.

About Graça:

Graça houses a diverse population, from local residents who were born here and new residents seeking this old part of Lisbon. Whether a tourist or resident, people are drawn here by its location, history, and soul. Situated next to the São Jorge Castle, Graça's district is also known for its spectacular views that are much enjoyed by residents and visitors.
